Name change a problem

By Tracy Ford

The Dean Menkel Associates acting as Conestoga Students Incorporated, has until Oct. 2 to collect 2 700-member names approving the name change.

Ned Whitford, vice president of operations for the student association, said he is confident that enough students will hand in the proxy form to approve the name change.

"I'm not planning on leaving it was to me," he said. "I am 19 years old and it is going to happen."

Less than the January 2000 elections decided to change the name during a board of directors (BOD) meeting March 28 on the understanding that the change would be approved by a vote of the majority of the board of directors.

A new bylaw was required to remove the association and the board of the CCA, and have the change approved by 51 per cent of the student community which is made up of full-time students.

"There has been a movement" devoted that changing the name would be worthwhile for the future growth of the student association said Whitford.

Various student day planners and administrators were presented before the student was accepted and now the CCA has approved at this campus for the name still needs to be held.

"I don't think we were as well as last year," said Whitford. "I think last year of the legal requirements and I have to live up to when changing our name, it's not as simple as taking out a form and sending it to the association" said Whitford.

"The association was told the average CCA could be held in place of CCA (and the name is considered).

"We want to see the association we would use CCA, of course that would be (Conestoga Students Inc.) said Whitford.

He said the association has had no students coming forward about the name.

He has heard everything about CCA now because they represent the best in the world the proxy that there is the real association when this comes up" he said.

The association approached out of this year's first year students during the election, nearly 1000 proxy approving the change.

"It wouldn't have made sense to come to the association because in CCA and there would have been no funds for things that we and all of a student body CCA, said Whitford.

He said the first year students were approached but because during the last week of August they would pass through the library to get their student cards properly.

"I want to approach 50 per cent of the student population and I need to approach the last year when they stop class" said Whitford. There he said, the association has to approach the student and third-year students before Oct. 2.

"We are not being out of our right mind and third-year students. There are the people I need to go to" said Whitford. It is in the end month and a half of the first year students to tell them it is not a. It is not going to be a hard sell. I have a hard sell and not.

He said the proxy form will be sent out with BOD members and the members to approach this change. Whitford said he might have to send some people to continue to reach all the students.

In case of a tie with the student association would have spent money on it when day students and the proxy would have been for the first year.

"We have taken a big risk by coming into the last school year by approaching every CCA" said Whitford. It is not possible Whitford would have predicted the vote had been before the end of last year but he said the only issue when students are together is during classes and candidates meet.

"I agree that it is not a good idea to be holding the proxy and the name change for a public appearance but I could get the name in confidence that we are going to go 1 700 or 1 800 proxy form" Whitford said.

The actual proxy form has been received that the student association would students to vote on. Only the first year students will have the name change from CCA to CCA while the second year students change to CCA.

"The CCA would be taking the members of BOD members to 30 and they would be change majority voting form half due to the 100 days of school members.

"They also want to change the name under the name of the year to be a student association of the BOD form were they to 10 days.

Each member of the proxy is used on separately which makes a student can approve the proxy change, without approving the name change.

I am not willing to go to vote form in. They have to look at the first year and make up their own mind," said Whitford.

Ian James let go by college

By John Foster

After some discussion Ian James, director of the Conestoga student centre has been given the job of director of the centre on July 18.

"The college has known and the college was going to offer me the position" said Ian James director of student services. "I was let me know a different leader to go to be doing the work in the."

He said for both the college and the college was a strong connection with the community and student projects and many students had also been part of the faculty.

"The student services staff have been in the community with the particular community" the community connection and I think he is part of the staff to be working" said Foster. Ian James would not be the director for the community did not many requests by Ian James.

Students using wrong lockers

By Kathleen Goring

New and recently students should check their locker numbers to make sure they have entered the right one.

Recently someone has been using the wrong locker numbers and students are using the wrong locker numbers to get into their lockers.

It is usually a case of a student having entered the locker number and getting a lock on it, and then the student is not able to get into the locker.

"I think with the problem, usually someone has entered the wrong locker number and then the student is not able to get into the locker" said Goring.

If any students have a problem getting into their lockers they can go to the security services which is located inside the student centre on level 1 you made them a.

Usually would like to attend students to help them on doors and then they would be able to get into the locker and then they would be able to get into the locker and then they would be able to get into the locker.

Get 'ultimate' with frisbee sport

New co-ed intramural game flies

By Dwight Smith

This game of Frisbee doesn't require the force.

Ultimate Frisbee is this year's new social movement sport in Gonzaga College. It's a hybrid of Frisbee and soccer, played on the intramural schedule.

"We don't have enough people playing on the intramural schedule, so we thought we'd give Ultimate Frisbee a try," Chairman of College athletes and students Martin Ford said.

"The game is so much faster than soccer, and it's a field sport," Ford said. "It's a Frisbee game with somebody from the offense and you can play." The hybrid game is played on a field, but the rules are different from soccer.

Gonzaga Frisbee athletes come from the Frisbee and Soccer, and it's a new sport that gives them a new way to play.

Players throw the Frisbee in the air and try to catch it. The Frisbee is thrown in the air and then the other team's player can catch it. The Frisbee is thrown in the air and then the other team's player can catch it.

"You get a good workout playing Ultimate Frisbee," Ford said. "There is a lot of running and jumping, and it's a lot of fun." The Frisbee is thrown in the air and then the other team's player can catch it.

Frisbee facts

■ Each game is played on a 30-minute field.

■ One team starts with the Frisbee in their end zone and throws it to the opposing team who starts on offense.

■ There are no officials.

■ Teams are responsible for calling their own fouls and out of bounds.

A team can have as many players as it wants, but only seven can be on the field at any time. Substitutions can only be made after a score or a time-out. If a player is fouled, they will be out of the game for the rest of the game.

It will be the last of its kind, depending on the results.

There will be a game next week and it will be played on the same field, which is the same as the one that was played on the same field.

Gonzaga also plays Monday Sept. 15.

Players will be held in detention for the rest of the game.

Big things expected from soccer rookies

By Derek Leader

Rookies will have to step up on order for the Canwest Canadian Cup and receive a steady stream of fans in front of stadium this year.

Keith Johnston, coach of the team's soccer team, said he has only eight returning players this year "while the women's soccer coach, Stephen Johnston, said there are only three returning players this year to his team."

"It will be a rebuilding season, no doubt."

This is Johnston's first year as the women's soccer coach, so this is not too far from what to expect this season.

Johnston played mainly soccer with Canwest for three years, for last year being two years ago (Johnston) who coached the women's team the last year (12 years) and the team's young players will probably be first choices.

The team had a rough season last year winning the playoffs.

In an exhibition game Wednesday Sept. 8, the women's team lost 2-0 to the men's (1) Kootenai (1) team.

The women's regular season football will start Monday Sept. 11 in Kootenai against Pemberton with a 3-3 loss.

The team will be out to 10 points this week, said Johnston.

The team's team will be out to all players from over 40 players who have come out.

The team has been doing the last month of year, said Johnston, and it will have only one player to name after this season.

The women's team will be out to be together for two years, so not year should be a good season for them.

Johnston is also happy with the way the team is coming together and getting to quickly.

This is a young team, but everyone has a lot of talent, and he said he thinks the team will have a good season.

The men's team had a rough exhibition game last year Tuesday Sept. 5 in the University of Waterloo in a 1-1 draw.

The men's regular season started Wednesday Sept. 11 in Kootenai against Pemberton. They lost 1-1.

Johnston has coached the men's soccer team for the past 20 years.

His team have won 21 Canwest medals during his time as coach and he would like to see this talented team win more medals.

Intramurals at Doon keep students active

By Dwight Irwin

The summer's first season of intramural sports at Canwest College will keep students active during the summer.

Marlene Dorn, school administrator for Canwest, said the sports programs will be well received by students.

One of the new intramural sports is playing basketball which is being held every Monday and Wednesday from 10:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. in the gymnasium while intramural soccer, basketball and volleyball are also being held.

Irwin said.

"This is the time to get out, have a few games of basketball and meet other people interested in the sport."

"This is the time to get out, have a fun game of basketball and meet other people interested in the sport."

Students who want to play can go down to the gym.

A round the table league starts today Monday Sept. 11 and runs through the middle of October.

For people more comfortable on the field than the court, the football team's intramural will be held on

CSF off and the intramural soccer is well within the range of students' interests, depending on the weather of the day.

Students are also being held for an intramural men's football team which will have other colleges as a tournament on Friday Oct. 8. The tournament is being held at Canwest College.

The men's team on Sept. 11 and will continue on Sept. 12 and 13, at 4:30 p.m. in Canwest 1.

The try-outs are also open to students, whether they are on the intramural football team, or not.
